Orders Received

An order for 41,000 “AirMoVent” commercial refrigeration motors has been received from Ugur Refrigeration (www.ugur.co.tr), Turkey. Deliveries will be completed by February 2006 and further orders from Ugur are expected.

An order has also been received from a major United States company for the first stage of a new Wellington “Total Integration” development project. The full project is substantial and, if completed through all stages, will deliver a Wellington-based version of a common appliance product that is used in most households in the United States. Several million units are sold annually in this product category. The Wellington development will, amongst other improvements, reduce the product’s electricity consumption in anticipation of federal and state regulations. For reasons of commercial confidentiality neither the customer name, nor the product type, can be disclosed.
