

Wellington Drive Technologies wins Exporter of the Year category at American Chamber of Commerce Awards

25 September 2008, Auckland – Wellington Drive Technologies has been named Exporter of the Year ($500,000-$5million) at last night's American Chamber of Commerce UPS Success and Innovation Awards.

Wellington, the world's leading supplier of energy-saving, electronically commutated motors and fans for the refrigeration, ventilation and appliance industries, was recognised for its export success into territories in Europe, Asia, the United States and Central America.

While Wellington has a significant export presence globally, it was recognised by AmCham for its success in the US market with companies such as Hill Phoenix, a leading manufacturer of supermarket chilled display cases, and The Kroger Co., the second largest US supermarket chain. End-users of the Wellington's commercial refrigeration range of energy saving motors now include Walmart, Kroger, Coca-cola and Tesco in the US.

Wellington Drive Technologies CEO Dr Ross Green says, "We're delighted to have won what is an extremely competitive category. We are committed to bringing energy-saving technology to the world, and we believe we are in a strong position to significantly grow our share of the global market in the next few years."

ENDS

ABOUT WELLINGTON DRIVE TECHNOLOGIES: Wellington Drive Technologies is one of the world's leading suppliers of energy saving, electronically commutated (EC) motors and fans for the refrigeration, ventilation and appliance industries. As an international supplier of energy saving solutions, Wellington has offices in the United States, Europe, Singapore, Asia and Central America, with the Engineering Centre and Head Office based in Auckland, New Zealand. Wellington's advanced technology provides standard and custom solutions that lower energy consumption through design innovation and lower costs through reduced materials usage and electronics design. Saving Generation for the Next Generation. For more info: www.wdttl.com

For media enquiries, please contact:
Thom James, Bullet PR
T: +64 9 306 4004
M: +64 21 503 181

E: thomj@bulletpr.co.nz